SANTIAGO HAS EARTHSHOCKS; MANY SUFFER

Sick and Dying Placed in Vineyards as Hospitals Are Demolished

AMERICA RUSHES TO AID

President Harding Orders Warships to Stricken Area with Supplies

(By the Associated Press)
Santiago, Chile, Nov. 16.—Strong earth shocks were felt at 12:25 o'clock this morning in the Copiapo and La Serena districts, where great loss of life was suffered in Saturday's quake, according to National Telegraph dispatches.
The inhabitants of Santiago were much alarmed early this morning when a slight earth shock was felt here, the motion apparently being vertical. The tremor began at 1:42 o'clock.
The director of a private meteorological institute had forecast an earth movement at 2 o'clock due to the conjunction of the moon and Saturn.

Sick in Fields
Dispatches from Copiapo report the arrival there of medical and relief parties, bringing a large stock of food and medicines. The medical officers of the party found a number of injured lying in the open air in the vineyards, as the hospital, which was built in 1848, had been completely ruined. Other victims, the number of fifty, mostly aged persons, were huddled in a motion picture, lacking proper ventilating facilities.

Many Bodies in Ruins
These conditions are stated to be surpassed by those in Vallenar, where bodies still remain beneath the ruins, their decomposition constituting a serious menace to the public health. The inhabitants, without food, are living in a continual state of terror, sleeping on the nearby hills. Breaking of the pipes has left the town without water.

Sends Warships
The news that President Harding is sending warships to Guasaco with supplies was received here with expressions of gratitude on all sides. While doubtless the vessels cannot arrive for another week, it is considered certain, judging from continued reports of the serious condition and appeals for relief from the district, that the aid will be timely.

Relief Delayed
Despite the railroad connections to the north, the quickest means of communication with the district, even in normal times, is by ship and it is believed some weeks will elapse before it is possible to deliver all the supplies necessary to allay distress.
Much appreciation was expressed for the offer of assistance from the American Red Cross but, so far as known no decision has been taken. It is understood the authorities, before accepting, are endeavoring to ascertain more definitely the extent of the damage and the number of persons in need of assistance.

EARTH SHOCKS FELT
Guatemala City, Guatemala, Nov. 16.—Earth shocks were felt throughout the Andes yesterday, two distinct movements noted at Villa Canales. It is believed the rumors were connected with the earthquakes in Chile.

PROSECUTOR OF MILLS CASE TO WITHDRAW

Will Leave Investigation After Matter Is Submitted to Grand Jury

(By the Associated Press)
New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 16.—Without minimizing the quality of evidence he expects to present the Somerset county grand jury next week in the Hall-Mills murder case, Deputy Attorney General Mott has insured a statement to the effect that his duty will be ended when he has all available evidence before the grand jury. He said he resented statements that he was attempting to force an indictment in the case.
Mr. Mott had been quoted several times as saying he would obtain the indictment of a woman and two men.

TO GET ALLOTMENT.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 16.—Less than 40 per cent of the 60 per cent allotment of hard coal for the northwest will be shipped by the lake routes, according to an estimate of Conrad Spens, federal fuel administrator, C. P. White, northwest federal fuel distributor, said today.
The balance of the allotment, approximately 20 per cent, Mr. Spens said the northwest distributor, will be shipped via all-rail.

WHO WILL RUN COMMERCE CLUB IS ANSWERED

Third of Series of Five Articles on Reorganization Details the Plan

TO BE DEMOCRATIC

Plan, Provides for Election in Which Every Member Shall Have Equal Voice

A large number of men and women are interested in the Commercial Club. Deep down in their hearts they are glad it is being reorganized along the most modern lines. They are well disposed towards the plan proposed by the American City Bureau. They want to hear more about it. They are asking themselves:
"Why does Bismarck need a civic-commercial organization?"
"What can a modern Commercial Club do for Bismarck?"
"Who is going to run the Commercial Club?"
"How is the Commercial Club going to be financed?"
"Is the Commercial Club going to be permanent?"
Through the courtesy of The Tribune, these five questions will be discussed, one each day, in these columns.

Answering the third of the series of five questions most often asked during a Re-organization Campaign: "Who is going to run the Commercial Club?" First, last and all the time, the members are going to run it. In the modern civic-commercial organizations, which is what Bismarck is going to have at the end of the campaign, every member is on equal footing. Each pays the same dues, each has one vote only, each has the right to nominate for office, each has as loud a voice as any other in the making of the program of work, as explained yesterday and each will be called upon to exercise all these rights.

One Man Control Goes.
Under the old plan, nominations were made by committee, committees were nominated by the president, alone or in consultation with the secretary and quite often the program of work, if there was one, was built by one or two individuals. Naturally this system led to "one man" control by a small group. The member who felt that he was one of the "obscure majority" was too indignant to come out of the background and presently after joining the organization, he substantially withdrew and in a year or two stopped paying dues. He was simply "not interested."

The Bismarck Commercial Club will be conducted along the new plan, the boiled-down results of dozens of experiments—of insisting that the members, all the members, shall lay who will hold office and be directors and what plans shall compose the platform or program of work.
It is a fundamental principle of the re-organization and expansion campaign that the whole membership shall direct "he thought and life of the new organization."
Method of Voting.
When the election of the new directors and officers takes place, a new method will be used. The election machinery is of the simplest (Continued on Page Three.)

AMERICANS ASK FOR PROTECTION

(By the Associated Press)
Hankow, Province of Hupoh, China, Nov. 16.—American, British and French residents of the province of Honan, alarmed at the increase of lawlessness and the appearance of an apparently organized campaign against foreigners have appealed jointly to their legations for protection.

COURT'S ORDER HOLDS UP SALE OF ONE BANK

Writ Issued by Judge Pugh Forbids Action Before Hearing on Timmer Bank

BIDS ARE RECEIVED Guaranty Fund Commission Opens Bids for Purchase of Assets of Closed Bank

An alternative writ issued by District Judge Pugh in Mandan held up opening of bids by the Guaranty Fund Commission for the purchase of the assets of the closed Timmer State bank of Bismarck, Morton county. The state board had advertised it would receive bids for the purchase of assets of 19 of the closed banks of the state yesterday. Hearing on the writ will be held Nov. 18 in Mandan.

The petition was presented to Judge Pugh by Dominic Garhart, who said he was a stockholder in the bank, and was directed against the state banking board and C. R. Kellogg, district receiver. The petition set out that the bank's capital stock was $10,000 when it closed Feb. 1, 1922, and that its assets aggregated $108,434.18.

The petition averred that if a sale of assets were made on bids the amount realized would not be what it should be, setting out that among other assets the bank held some land in that vicinity on which little could be realized now. The petition further set out the belief that if the receivership were continued for a year or so the full amount of the liability could be realized upon.
The Guaranty Fund Commission submitted for the purpose of assets of closed banks this morning, but as the members said the board merely acted in an advisory capacity for the state banking board and all members of that board were not in the city, a list of the bids were not given out. It was stated that bids were not received on all of the 19 banks offered for sale but that more than one bid was received on some of them.

Consideration of the bids was begun by the commission, and it was added that no recommendations had yet been agreed upon. It may be two or three days before consideration of the bids has proceeded to a point where definite recommendations on all of them will be made, it was added.
A telegram was received from J. F. O'Connor of Grand Forks and John Valley, receiver for some of the banks in the Grand Forks district, advising against sale of the assets of the Peoples State Bank of Grand Forks, on the ground that the sale would occasion loss, and that within a year or so the bank perhaps could pay out. At least one bid was received for the assets of this bank.

LEGISLATION ON FARM CREDITS TO BE URGED

Treasury Department Expects Request to Modify Federal Reserve Act

ASK LONGER TURNOVER

Removal of Limitations From Cooperatives Association May Be Waged

Washington, Nov. 16.—Proposals for legislation modifying the federal reserve act to provide greater facilities for agricultural credits are expected by treasury officials to make their appearance soon in congress.
The subject already has been under discussion by the administration and it was said today that Secretary Mellon saw no objection to some modification of the law, particularly with respect to providing a longer maturity than six months, the present limit, for live stock paper because of the longer turnover in that industry.
Whether recommendations on the subject will be made to congress by Mr. Mellon in his forthcoming annual report were not disclosed.

Recent Ruling.
Liberal facilities for the extension of credit to the agricultural industry were seen today by federal reserve officials in recent rulings of the board regarding the eligibility for rediscout of the paper of co-operative marketing associations.
The most recent ruling excluded growers' drafts drawn and accepted by co-operative association from the provision of the federal reserve act which limits the amount of paper by one maker a federal reserve bank may rediscout for any member bank to 10 per cent of the capital and surplus of the member bank.

Removal of the 10 per cent limitation from co-operative marketing association was regarded by board officials as of extreme importance in furnishing adequate credit facilities to these organizations.
Other rulings opening up credit channels to these associations announced by the board covered the eligibility for rediscout of growers' drafts accepted by the associations, notes of associations for funds to pay for commodities purchased, warehouse receipts covering agricultural products for security, and bankers' acceptances drawn by associations and secured by warehouse receipts.

The board also has ruled that the carrying of a crop pending orderly marketing is an agricultural operation and a farmers note for financing the carrying of his products for a reasonable period is eligible for rediscout.
The note was couched in vigorous language. It declared that the missionaries were carrying on their work in the interior of China under treaties which had been violated by the abductions.
It is understood that Washington instructed Jacob Gould Schurman, the American minister, to impress upon China the seriousness of the bandits' activities in detaining foreigners for political motives. Dr. Schurman protested only in behalf of the two American captives, but joined the other ministers in a general complaint against interference with the treaty rights of missionaries.

MRS. PHILLIPS HELD GUILTY OF MURDER

Jury Holding "Hammer Murder" Case Reports in Los Angeles Court

(By the Associated Press)
Los Angeles, Nov. 16.—A verdict of murder in the second degree was returned by the jury today in the case of Mrs. Clara Phillips, charged with beating Mrs. Albert Meadows to death with a hammer.

Before the verdict was received, Judge Houser cautioned the crowd in the court room that deputy sheriffs were scattered among them and that any demonstration would be dealt with severely. Mrs. Phillips heard the verdict without any evidence of emotion.
Judge Houser set next Monday as the time for sentence.
The jury resumed deliberations early today. When it was locked up last night, Judge Frank W. Houser instructed that deliberations be taken up again as soon as possible after breakfast this morning.
The jury communicated in no way with the court after it retired at 10:55 o'clock yesterday morning.

FINAL FIGURES MUST AWAIT VOTE CANVASS

(By the Associated Press)
Fargo, N. D., Nov. 16.—Revised figures on the North Dakota election this morning showed that there are only about 2,128 or 2,130 precincts in the state instead of 2,138. Two additional precincts enabled Seton Richardson, Nonpartisan high man, to cut the lead of Nuesse, Independent low, in the supreme judgeship race, only 10 votes—1,567 to 1,577, with about 16 precincts left to report.
A number of precincts in the state did not report their vote and these will be heard from only when the canvassing board meets.

BRIDE'S DOWRY GOES TO AID NATION'S BLIND

New York, Nov. 16.—A shower of last minute checks today swelled the dowry of Miss Winifred Holt, worker for the blind, who will become the bride this afternoon of Rufus Graves Nather of Princeton, N. J. An anonymous gift of $5,000 was among them. It was expected that the fund of $100,000 which Miss Holt hoped to raise for the Light-house for the blind she established in France would be over-subscribed.
The ceremony will be performed in the New York lighthouse by Bishop Menning. Four of her bridesmaids will be blind girls and a blind organist will play selections of his own composition.
Among the gifts is $1,000 from Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who joined with President Harding, Secretary Hughes, General Pershing, and Ambassador Jessup in commending Miss Holt's purpose to devote her wedding presents to the special fund which is being raised for the Paris lighthouse.

RELEASE OF MISSIONARIES IS DEMANDED

Officials of Chinese Republic Informed They Must Take Drastic Action

OTHERS ARE INVOLVED

Outlaws Take Citizens of Greece, France, England, Sweden and Italy

(By the Associated Press)
Peking, Nov. 16.—Measures for the immediate release of the foreign missionaries kidnapped by Chinese bandits were demanded of the Peking government today by the American, British, Italian, French and Swedish ministers who acted under instructions of their governments.

The five ministers, presenting a joint note, called in person and informed executives of the Chinese republic the powers would be compelled to act drastically unless the missionaries were released and guarantees given for the future safety of the hundreds of other missionaries in China.

The note was couched in vigorous language. It declared that the missionaries were carrying on their work in the interior of China under treaties which had been violated by the abductions.
It is understood that Washington instructed Jacob Gould Schurman, the American minister, to impress upon China the seriousness of the bandits' activities in detaining foreigners for political motives. Dr. Schurman protested only in behalf of the two American captives, but joined the other ministers in a general complaint against interference with the treaty rights of missionaries.

Besides the Americans, the captives now include one Greek, one French citizen, one British subject, one Swedish and one Italian. The Italian hostage was identified as Father Grimbaldi, who was captured in Anhwei province and taken into Honan province, where about 10,000 outlaws have been holding a large area. The others are all detained in Honan.

The bandits have seized the various nationalities with a view of forcing the Peking government to incorporate the bandits in the regular Chinese army.

Peking probably will be forced to accede to the bandits' demands in order to satisfy the powers.
TO TRY AMERICAN.
Tokio, Nov. 16.—R. M. Andrews, American business man here, will be tried on a charge of violating the navigation laws, it has been decided by an examining judge, who threw out the additional accusations that Andrews had entered a fortified area illegally.

KILLS BEAR WITH KNIFE

Companions of Minneapolis Chief Vouch for Story

(By the Associated Press)
Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 16.—A tale of a fight with a wounded black bear in which C. W. Ringer, chief of the Minneapolis fire department, used a knife to dispatch the animal was being told here today by Ringer's hunting companions who were eye witnesses of the encounter.
The animal attacked Ringer after three shots had been fired into its body without effect. Several thrusts of a hunting knife at close quarters caused the wounded bear to give ground and it died a few minutes later.

PLAN MERGER OF BIG FIVE MEAT PACKERS

J. Ogden Armour Places Scheme Before Attorney General Dougherty

DETAILS WITHHELD

Consolidation with Wilson or Morris Interests Hinted

Washington, Nov. 16.—J. Ogden Armour head of Armour and Company, remained in Washington today presumably for further conferences concerning a proposal for merging his own company with that of another of the "big five" Chicago meat packers. Mr. Armour's proposal for a merger was laid before Attorney General Dougherty and Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture yesterday for the purpose it was assumed, of obtaining governmental approval.

All details of the plan were withheld except these made known by Secretary Wallace, who in a formal statement regarding Mr. Armour's visit to the department said the merger contemplated purchase of the physical assets of another packing plant. The Secretary said, he had expressed no opinion but "will, of course, give it fullest consideration."

Unofficial advice reaching government circles mentioned as possible a merger with either Wilson and Company or Morris and Company.
Decision with regard to the proposed absorption by Armour Company of Morris and Company, another of the "big five" packers, was reserved today by government officials before whom the matter was placed yesterday by J. Ogden Armour.

Despite Mr. Morris' statement that his company was not participating in the conferences here, information today in authoritative circles indicated that it was that concern which Armour and Company seeks to absorb. It was understood also that Mr. Armour expected an early decision from agricultural and justice officials before whom he has laid details of his plan.

PETITIONS FOR CALLING GRAND JURY ARE CUT

Ask That Judge Coffey Order One be Convened in Burleigh County

Petitions for a grand jury in Burleigh county probably will be presented to District Judge J. A. Coffey of Jamestown soon. Circulation of the petitions began yesterday, there being two lists, one for female voters and one for male voters. The form of the petition does not set out election matters as the reason for calling them and the reason for calling them is that "there are matters of grave importance affecting the interests of all law-abiding citizens in this county."

North Dakota, but may be called on petition of 10 percent of the male electors under the old law, which in the case of Burleigh county would be probably 250 to 300 persons. Whether the fact that since the law was enacted women have been given the ballot would affect the call is a matter of conjecture.

The petitions were circulated by J. P. Spies and others interested in the Burleigh county election. A grand jury, if called, must have not less than 16 nor more than 23 members, and when it sits it is supreme. It may bring charges against whom it pleases for any offense.

A grand jury was summoned in Burleigh county several years ago, when a number of citizens had been arrested on liquor charges. The law provides that when a jury sits all pending cases must go before it, and if it does not indict the charges are dropped. The grand jury on that occasion did not indict the persons against whom charges were pending.

Attorney-General Johnson and States Attorney McCurdy said they had taken no action in the matter. It was rumored in the city that the grand jury if called would be asked to return indictments against some former officials of the Bank of North Dakota, on offenses for which they could not be indicted when the grand jury sat in Fargo investigating the Scandinavian American bank case. The last time the matter of a grand jury was up in Burleigh county was a few years ago when petitioners were presented asking for an investigation of pay matters in Bismarck, the call being declined by Judge Nuesse.

Boy Held

Wm. Washburn, 14, is in the Montrose (Cal.) jail charged with the murder of 75-year-old Cyrus Payne, a recluse. Police say that the boy has confessed to beating the old man to death with the butt of a rifle and then robbing him of hoarded money.

MILLIONAIRE COMMUNIST FACES PRISON

Wm. Bross Floyd's Sentence Of Five Years Upheld By Court

HAS $1,800,000 ESTATE

Asks Stay so he Can Arrange Handling of Property During Term

Rock Island, Ill., Nov. 16.—The Illinois supreme court mandate ordering Wm. Bross Floyd, millionaire Chicago communist, to Joliet prison for five years for violation of the anti-syndicalism law, will be served on Sheriff Peters of Cook county today, Chief Justice Thompson announced.

Judge Thompson last midnight denied Lloyd's plea for a thirty-day stay to permit him to arrange for the handling of his $1,800,000 estate. "No man going to the penitentiary has to have that much money," Justice Thompson commented in denying the delay.

TWO CONVICTS GET AWAY FROM PRISON HERE

Men Are Trained from Prison Brickyard to Bismarck, Where Scent Is Lost

Two convicts escaped from the state penitentiary brick plant last night about 7:30 o'clock and had not been captured at noon today, although parties of guards were searching in Bismarck, and vicinity for them, and authorities in other places had been notified.
The convicts, William Walker and William Forth, were regarded as trustees, it was said at the prison. Their absence was soon discovered and guards went in search for them. Trains were searched and the opinion was expressed that they had not gotten away on trains. Bloodhounds also were given the scent and trailed the men into Bismarck where the scent was lost.

Walker was sentenced from Ward county for forgery for two and one-half years in May 1, 1919. He served part of the sentence under suspension and then when it was revoked was brought here last May. He did not have long to serve.
Forth was sentenced from Barnes county for grand larceny for two years, and was brought to the prison August 1.

Citizen Killed Who Joined Posse to Fight Bootleggers

Hot Springs, Ark., Nov. 16.—Jeff Howell of Buckville, 25 miles northwest of here, was shot and killed, and Ernest Wheatley of Hot Springs, and John Newkirk of Jessville, were wounded, when a party of citizens was fired on from ambush following a community meeting at the Jessville school house last night during which moonshiners and bootleggers were said to have been scored by speakers from Hot Springs.

CONSERVATIVE MAJORITY CUT BY ELECTIONS

Laborites on Early Figures Show Gains of 41—Very Heavy Vote

LIBERALS ARE DEFEATED

Lloyd George Followers Make Very Poor Showing At Polls

(By the Associated Press)
London, Nov. 16.—At 4:30 o'clock returns from yesterday's elections showed the conservatives to have more than necessary 308 for a majority in the new house.
With only 70 divisions missing, they had elected 309 members; the Asquithians liberals 55, the labor party 120, the national liberals 38 and the other parties 18.
The standing of the various parties at 4 p. m.: Conservatives 308; Liberals (Asquithians) 47; Labor 120; National Liberals (Georgians) 34; other parties 12.

SAFE MAJORITY
London, Nov. 16.—The Conservatives seem certain to have a majority over all the other parties in the new house of commons.

It was announced at 4 o'clock this afternoon that 305 conservative have been elected. The number necessary for a majority is 308 and there were 14 divisions still to be heard from.

(By the Associated Press)
London, Nov. 16.—Extensive gains for labor and numerous losses for the conservatives and the national (Lloyd George) liberals feature the returns from yesterday's parliamentary elections as received up to 7 o'clock this morning.

The poll was remarkably heavy. In many constituencies more than eighty, and some cases more than ninety per cent of the electors voted, a very large proportion being women. The enthusiasm of the women was particularly noticeable in London where neither fog nor household cares sufficed to keep them indoors.

The laborites' rally to the polls showed thoroughness of party organization and a keenness to carry their men to victory. Their successes were most striking in the northern industrial areas, especially in Glasgow, where seat after seat fell to their attack.

Gain 41 Seats.
The latest figures give their gains 41, against which they have but five losses. It is noteworthy that their triumphs came in the constituencies where they were regarded as most likely and it is not expected that today's later returns will show similar gains as the rural districts are heard from.

The conservatives, although maintaining up to the present their majority over the other parties, have already suffered very serious losses. These being only slightly fewer than labor's gains, but they can boast of the accession of eight seats.

The majorities by which the conservatives were returned at the last elections are also much reduced where they were re-elected, the case of Prime Minister Bonar Law being typical.

Close Call for Law.
The premier yesterday was returned over the laborite candidate in the central division of Glasgow by a margin of only 2,514 where as in the previous election his majority was 12,915.

The national liberals of Georgians, also suffered some twenty losses, while the independent, or Asquithian, liberals made about 15 gains.
Of the women candidate, Viscountess Astor is the only one returned thus far, and her victory was won by a closer margin than when she was first sent to parliament to represent the sutton division of Plymouth. Lady Astor lost many vote through the conservative split, but made compensating gains from laborites and liberals.

Partial Standing.
Returns up to 1 o'clock this afternoon showed the standing of the parties in the new parliament, with approximately half of the members accounted for, but including the contested divisions, to be as follows:
Conservatives, 177; Liberals (Asquithian), 28; Laborites, 60; National Liberals (Georgians), 24; other parties, 9.
With 307 seats thus accounted for, out of the total of 615 in the house of commons, it was no more possible for the experts, to predict the complexion of the next house than it was last night. The conservative had a majority of 47 seats over all other parties at that hour, but our pressing upsets which were constant in cropping up in various constituencies drove the election prospects to cover.

MANDAN NEWS
SLOPE COUNTY
BONDING CASE
BEFORE PUGH

District Judge Thomas Pugh has under consideration today the Slope County Bonding Case, in which the county is suing the State Bonding Fund and the county treasurer of Slope county $50,000, because of county funds alleged to have been lost through deposit in banks in Slope county at Argon which are closed.

The case was argued before Judge Pugh yesterday by William Langer, attorney for the county, together with States Attorney Brownlee, and the State Bonding Fund was defended by Charles Simon, assistant attorney-general.

The attorney for the county argued that the law creating the Bank of North Dakota prohibited deposit of public funds in any bank but the Bank of North Dakota, and he asserted that County Treasurer Douglas in depositing the funds in the local banks violated the law. The defense attorney set out that the banks had been closed after the initiation law had been passed which permitted the county officers to deposit money in such institutions as they desired.

MORTON COUNTY
TERM OPENED

Trial of criminal cases opened the November term of district court in Morton county, with Judge Thomas Pugh presiding. Twenty cases were stricken from the calendar the first day.

Among the criminal cases before the court are: Arthur Dufrense, charged with rape; Arthur Rattling, Indian, similar case, both of whom pleaded not guilty. Three other cases for statutory crimes are on the calendar. They include Joseph Derschon, from Dunn county, charged with an offense against a 11-year-old girl; and statutory charges against L. L. Holmes and Raphael Lengang.

One murder case is on the calendar, that of Katie Rothschiller, Glen Ulin girl, charged with abandoning her infant which died. Four face charges of selling home brew or violating the prohibition laws in other respects.

RORVYK-KELLY MARRIAGE
ANNOUNCEMENT

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Ella Rorvik of Circle, Mont. and Lester C. Kelly of Mandan which took place at the Presbyterian manse with Rev. H. H. Owen officiating. L. R. Jones and Mrs. Owen were witnesses.

Mrs. Kelly was employed by the Northern Pacific at Terry, Mont. Her husband is also a train nurse, serving in the army nursing corps during the war and was for some time at the Northern Pacific hospital at Glendive.

The bride is the daughter of State Senator Peter Rorvik of Circle, Mont., who conducts a large mercantile establishment there and who is the owner of the Circle ranch. She recently came to Mandan where she has been employed as an operator on the Northern Pacific. Following a brief honeymoon trip, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly will make their home in Mandan, where they have a wide circle of friends.

Mike McNally and Joe Higgins, transients, were each found guilty of being drunk and disorderly before Justice of Peace Olson on Saturday and given sentences of five days in jail. Sentence on the former was suspended upon good behavior.

Matt Metz was given a hearing before Justice Olson on Saturday morning, charged with assault and battery. Fronica Schaff was the plaintiff. The case was postponed until Thursday, Nov. 16.

The members of the Fortnightly Club are preparing a box for the institution at Jamestown and the public is urged to contribute pieces of cotton, silk goods, old neckties, and other material which would be suitable for fancy work.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Kennelly and daughters left yesterday for Dickinson to visit until Thanksgiving with Mrs. Kennelly's mother, Mrs. Mary Kuskelly.

Messrs. Turk and Windhaus of Richardson have purchased the Hibbard billiard parlors and lunch room.

Invitations have been sent out by the Mandan Knights of Pythias for a novel dancing party which will take place tomorrow evening at the Elks Hall for the members of the order and their friends. The main feature of the dance is that all are expected to come in costumes representing characters found in the present-day comic sections.

HERE ARE THE MEN WHO MAY RULE SENATE

By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Staff Writer

In the next Congress the Republicans, while they'll have small majorities, in name, in both houses, won't have the kind they can depend on.

There will be enough Republicans, both among senators and representatives, who recognize party ties only when they happen to feel disposed to do so, to hold the balance of power, with a few out-and-out independents, as between the really partisan Republican and Democratic groups of lawmakers.

This is the alignment:

Senate—Republicans, 58; Democrats, 42; Farmer-Labor, 1.
House of Representatives—Republicans, 226; Democrats, 208; Socialist, 1; Farmer-Labor, 1; independent, 1.

But in the Senate the Republicans cannot depend on Borah, Brookhart, Frazier, Howell, Johnson, Ladd, La Follette, Norbeck and Norris, respectively of Idaho, Iowa, North Dakota, Nebraska, California, North Dakota.

That means a group of 10, quite capable of sticking together, who hold the casting votes in the United States Senate.

In the House the lineup is not quite so clean-cut. Suffice it to say, however, that a majority of only 17 is entirely insufficient—counting out the Republicans whom the administration can't be sure of—to be relied on. In fact, it is agreed that the Republican organization isn't even sure enough of itself to know yet what leader the doubtfuls will permit it to name for speaker.

Of the Republican senators with whom it is not expected party discipline will count, R. B. Howell is a new man to national political life. He is a manager of public utilities in Omaha, was a warm supporter of

Theodore Roosevelt made his Senatorial campaign largely on the issue of pushing collection of American's foreign debt.

Peter Norbeck has served a term in the Senate and was governor of South Dakota for two terms. By occupation he is contracting well driller. He is avowedly of the advanced progressive Republican type.

Farmer-Labor Man
Dr. Henrik Shipstead, whose political career has been limited previously to his run for the Senate and to a campaign for governor of Minnesota on the Non-Partisan League and labor-ticket, won his seat on the Farmer-Labor ticket.

George W. Norris has had two terms as senator already. Previously, as a member of the House of Representatives, he led the fight which unsent "Uncle Joe" Cannon as speaker. Cannon's opponents claim being that he was too conservative.

Dr. Edwin F. Ladd is a teacher and chemist. He has served a term in the Senate and was federal food administrator of North Dakota during the war.

Robert M. La Follette has served as governor of Wisconsin, in Congress and in the Senate. He has a reputation as the author of legislation of the "advanced type."

William E. Borah has been in the Senate for two terms. He was notable as one of the chief opponents of President Wilson's League of Nations plan. Borah is a Boise, Ida., lawyer.

Like Borah, Hiram Johnson fought the Wilson League of Nations plan vigorously. He was one of the prosecutors of the celebrated San Francisco "boodling cases" in 1906 and 1907, served two terms as governor of California on a platform dealing mainly with the elimination of corporation interference in the state's affairs, was a founder of the Progressive Party, ran for the vice presidency on the ticket with Colonel Roosevelt and has had a term in the Senate.

Lynn J. Frazier won the Senatorial election despite the fact that not long ago, he was recalled, under the North Dakota law, as governor of his state, an office to which he was elected on the Non-Partisan League ticket. Thus he has the remarkable record of having been swept into office by a large majority of votes, swept out of it by the ballots of the same voters and then, again by the same voters, swept into the Senate. He is a farmer.

TRADE COMMISSION SAYS EUROPE IS ON VERGE OF GREAT MILITARY CONFLICT

Chicago, Nov. 16.—Europe is more nearly on the verge of military conflict than at any period immediately preceding the world war, according to conclusions of members of the International Trade Commission of the Southern Commercial Congress, who will report to the annual convention of the organization to be held here Nov. 20-22.

The commission has just returned from a tour of inspection and investigation in Great Britain, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland and Italy. The complete findings of the commission, to be submitted in a report to the meeting here and later presented to congress, will have been reached entirely from a non-political standpoint and without "fear or favor to view the problems and suggest remedies with an eye single to the economic betterment of the world," according to Clarence J. Owens, president of the congress.

"The fundamental problem is that of the settlement of the war debts and reparations," said Dr. Owens. "We desire to promote American business extension and the same reconstruction of the stricken nations of Europe. A settlement embracing these points cannot be handled piecemeal, but must include all nations, parties to international financial obligations. America, as a creditor nation to the amount of ten billion dollars, plus accrued interest, must see that its interests are protected."

The conclusions of the commission, reached unanimously, are contained in the following statement issued by Dr. Owens:

"The Belgian Compromise is purely temporary and unless some solution of the problems is reached prior to the expiration of the six-months' period, the conditions in Europe will be infinitely worse."

"France and Belgium base their entire program of reconstruction and rehabilitation and the return of exchange to an approximate normal status, upon German reparation payments. They say Germany must pay."

"Germany with its gold and securities of value out of the country, with apparent financial collapse but with an almost frenzied agricultural and industrial activity in production, boldly claims that the Treaty of Versailles must be amended that Germany may be free to compete economically and commercially with other countries of the world and claims that Germany cannot pay anything like the sum demanded, nor at all until she is free to export."

"Holland as a neutral observer, agrees that Germany cannot pay and plainly says that the economic future of Holland is bound up with the fate of Germany. They say, if Germany succeeds, Holland will prosper, if Germany fails, Holland will suffer.

"Italy has more nearly balanced her budget and England has balanced hers. These nations do not maintain that their economic future is dependent upon German reparations. However, both nations have their heavy exterior debts and both expect Germany to pay all adequate amount."

"A settlement is reached, and a settlement must be reached if the peace of the world is to be restored and guaranteed, then two basic considerations must be understood and accepted, namely:

"1. America cannot cancel the debts of the nations but all nations must ultimately pay their obligations, with dignity and honor.

"2. The World War is ended and while hate and anger is still in the hearts of many, the settlements between nations formerly belligerent must be on a basis of mutual respect and consideration."

"Two words contain the solution of the world's problems in the international settlement in this hour of unhappy and chaotic uncertainty. They are 'moratorium' and 'amortization.' Let no nation ask for its debts to be forgiven but only for time and patient consideration. The former allies must pay the United States. Germany must pay reparations obligations but amendments to the Treaty of Versailles must be agreed upon, giving Germany the opportunity of free competition economically with all nations and France and Germany must have guarantee of freedom from molestation and military attack."

"If there was adequate reason for a six-months' moratorium there will be greater reason for a longer extension at the expiration of the period. A moratorium of a longer and absolutely definite period must be accepted. If America as a creditor nation attempts to force payments from the nations of Europe, the result would be disastrous and if the former Allies attempt to force the defeated nations beyond the ability to pay, it would be equally disastrous and would inevitably lead to armed conflict."

"The nations must agree around the table, to an amortization scheme of settlement. America might generously agree to reduce the interest rate lower than four and a quarter cent and permit one-half of one cent of the interest agreed upon to go to amortize the loan of ten billion dollars and thus with the payment of the interest and amortization, annually, the debts would be eventually paid. It is evident that twenty-five years is altogether too brief a period to amortize the debts."

"The American farmer, who under the Federal Farm Loan Act gets his loan for thirty-four and a half years,

RIGORS OF COMING WINTER
THREATENS TO CRACK MORALE
OF GERMANY'S WORKING CLASS

Berlin, Oct. 23.—The rigors of the coming winter threaten to crack the morale of Germany's working classes unless the outside world alters its political attitude and the mark improves, declared Dr. Thomas Amadeo, a prominent Argentinean economist, on the eve of his departure from Berlin after a nationwide study.

Dr. Amadeo is Argentina's general director of public instruction in agriculture, professor of rural economy in the Universities of Buenos Aires and La Plata, and director of the Museo Social Argentino, under the auspices of which the late Theodore Roosevelt visited Argentina. He resumes his duties as Argentinean delegate to the International Agricultural Institute at Rome next month, after spending a short time in France.

In spite of his fears for the economic position of Germany in the near future, Dr. Amadeo voiced the utmost praise for the industry now prevailing.

"I have the impression," he said, "of having seen an enormous swarm of diligent people led by individuals of unsurpassable competence in all classes and activities. The German people has the spirit of work in its blood and marrow and bone, and for that reason the German people will not go under as did the Austrians."

He called attention, however, to the increasing costs of living and to the serious domestic results of depreciation in the mark, warning that these factors might prove a strain too severe to the workers to stand.

An economic collapse of Germany, Dr. Amadeo was convinced, would mean heavy losses for all countries in North and South America. On the other hand he believed all would profit greatly if the position of Germany's industry were improved and her trade were restored to its normal channels.

Regarding German-Argentinean relations, Dr. Amadeo said he found many Germans wished to go to South America, especially to Argentina, but were unable to pay the costs of the voyage because of the mark's exchange value. "They are the sons of farmers, hand-workers, and persons of small independent means who seek better prospects," he explained. "They would without doubt be very useful to the young lands of South America because of their technical efficiency and their ambitions to progress. Never would there be a better time than the present for the founding of a colonization company organized on a large scale and promoted by farm and employment circles."

Dr. Amadeo incidentally expressed high confidence in the results to be achieved by an international congress of Social Museums and similar institutions which he proposes should be held at Buenos Aires under the auspices of the Museo Social.

One of Every Four
New Yorkers Has
Money in the Bank

New York, Nov. 11.—The popular idea that the term "New Yorker" is synonymous with prodigality in expenditures for unimportant things, extravagance in dress and style of living and outlay for bright light amusements, is refuted by some significant figures just compiled by the Merchants' Association.

On July 1, 1922 the saving banks of New York held on deposit $2,069,779,824.85, representing accounts of 1,080,825 depositors, or more than one out of every four of the entire population.

"These figures," said the statement, "are as significant relatively as positively. They prove that the habit of thrift among the wage earners in the city has grown enormously during the last twenty-five years."

"In 1897 the book of the New York savings banks showed deposits to a total of $629,907,247.75. The actual deposits in that period have therefore multiplied almost four times. Within the same period the number of depositors has increased from 1,222,366 to the total as indicated above. It is true that the increase in numbers of accounts is not commensurate with the increase in population, but a significant fact appears in the per capita comparison. The depositors of 1897 showed an average savings account of $432.51, while the depositors of today show on average savings deposit of $1,921.55."

"Those who analyze the significance of figures may draw various deductions of interest from these remarkable showings which are now assembled, but any argument tending to show that New Yorkers in general are a wasteful lot, would have some difficulty in maintaining itself unchallenged."

Money Back
If "Gets-It"
Fails

Nothing is so utterly needless as the suffering from aching, painful corns. It as easy to peel off a corn as to skin a banana. Tough it with "Gets-It" and the corn is gone. For hard corns, soft corns, any corn or callus. All pain stops instantly and the corn proceeds to loosen and soon can be lifted right off. Your money cheerfully refunded if it fails. But it never fails. Costs but a trifle. E. MOTHER!

Sensational Fight
Is Sure to Thrill

Perchance there is no male screen player today who really relishes fight scenes in pictures more than David Butler, the popular star who brings his latest cinema offering, "Making the Grade," to the Capitol Theatre tonight.

David is an all-round athlete and if there are no "rough" episodes in his pictures, he is very much charged. Fortunately, however, the scenario writers have managed to inject ample scenes calling for physical action on the part of the young star and in "Making the Grade" David appears in several of the fastest fight scenes ever filmed.

Imagine yourself caught in a den of Bolsheviks—all ready to pounce upon you and crush the life from your body. This does not faze David Butler. No, sir! The faster they come, the better he likes it. In "Making the Grade" David really did some remarkable fighting. The "Bolsheviks" were real native Russians who understood very little if any English. When their interpreter yelled for "fight" they fought in earnest. Naturally David could not take time to remonstrate with them, so he plunged into the fray full tilt, giving the motion picture public one of the most realistic "movie fights" ever filmed.

Open Child's Bowels with
"California Fig Syrup"

Even a sick child loves the "gratifying" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, give a teaspoonful to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile, and waste out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.—Adv.

REPARATIONS MAY PROVE BOOMERANG

London, Nov. 16.—Sir Eric Geddes did more very plain talking about German reparations as the guest of the Thirty club of London, recently. This club is an association of advertising experts. When in Parliament Sir Eric was noted for his straight forward style of speech, and since he became a business man again he is more outspoken than ever.

"In 1918 I was a politician," he said, "and I said then that we should not make a fetish of reparations; that we might find reparations a boomerang, and that the demanding of great sums from Germany might be bad. I nearly lost my seat over that statement, and I had to hedge a bit."

He was under no necessity of doing any hedging before the Thirty Club, he continued. "What I said in 1918 has come absolutely true now," he declared. "We were absolutely wrong, as allies, in trying to get the last penny out of Germany. We cannot get it because it is not there. It is no use chasing a mirage. You can only get reparations out of Germany by either money or goods. She has no money, and if you take her goods it will mean unemployment here. If the leaders of thought could bring that home to our people, it would be a good thing for this country."

SCULLING CHAMP UNDER ARREST AFTER ACCIDENT

Duluth, Minn., Nov. 16.—Walter Hoover, world's amateur sculling champion, was arrested today on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death in an automobile accident of Herbert Seely, 55, of Madison, Wis. Hoover is held in the city jail without bail pending arrival of Madison authorities who preferred the charge. He was released on his own recognizance.

The accident occurred at Madison several weeks ago while Hoover was returning by motor from New Orleans, La., where he had attended the American Legion convention. Hoover was exonerated at the time by a police officer who witnessed the accident.

Hoover walked into police headquarters shortly before noon after Chief of Police Warren E. Pugh notified him by telephone that he wanted to see him. The champion told his story of the accident and on being released immediately communicated with a local attorney. In a statement to newspaper men Hoover said he was willing to go to Madison to defend himself against the charge "because I know I am innocent and was not to blame for the accident."

ARREST FOLLOWS DEATH

(By the Associated Press)
Madison, Wis., Nov. 16.—Herbert Seely, 52, a farmer living near Oregon, Wis., was injured here October 26 when the automobile driven by Walter Hoover of Duluth, world's sculling champion, struck the car which Seely was riding in, and threw him to the pavement. His injuries were not considered serious at the time but complications developed and the man died November 11.

Seely and William Bethel of Oregon, were riding through Madison when the accident occurred, at a street intersection. The automobiles struck as Hoover was about to turn a corner. After the death of Seely, Dane county officials commenced an investigation of the circumstances surrounding the accident. The charges against Hoover at Duluth followed when his identity was established.

seat since 1919. The vote was Clayton, 14,679; Henderson, 12,397.

The Evening Star, in its mid-day edition says:

"It is clear that Mr. Bonar Law's chances of an independent majority are slight."

Major John Jacob Astor, son of the late Viscount Astor, was elected on the conservative ticket over the liberal candidate, L. J. Stein, and the Independent unionist, Colonel Sir Thomas Polson, in the Dover division of Kent.

Out of 83 women nominees only two had been returned up to this afternoon.

Conservative headquarters continued to take an optimistic view of the outcome, claiming the country-districts would increase the conservative lead but it was noticeable that none of the conservative managers ventured to go much beyond this.

Conservative headquarters, however, stated that so far as voting in parliament was concerned the conservatives were secure against the labor party because they could reasonably look for support from the independent conservatives, the acquiescents and the Georgeites.

Austin Chamberlain, leader of the house of commons in the Lloyd George regime, was returned by a large majority over his labor party opponent in the west division of Birmingham.

With considerably more than two-thirds of the returns in at this hour, the conservatives were rapidly approaching the number of names necessary (308) for control of the new house of commons. Returns for 444 divisions out of 615 showed the following: Conservatives, 265; Liberals (Asquithian), 40; Laborites, 90; National Liberals (Georgeites), 32; other parties, 11.

Show Gains.

Strong gains for the conservatives were shown in the compilation of members elected to the house of commons made at 2 o'clock this afternoon on the returns so far made. This showed the total members returned, including the uncontested divisions to be as follows:

Conservatives, 222; Liberals (Asquithian), 30; Laborites, 78; National Liberals (Georgeites), 26; other parties, 8.

The total house membership is 615, with 308 necessary for a majority.

Second Woman Wins.

The second woman to be returned to the new house of commons today Astor being the first, was Mrs. Margaret Winttingham, the present member of the fourth division of Lincolnshire. Mrs. Winttingham retains her seat with 11,600 votes against the conservative candidate, Sir Alan Huthings, with 10,728 votes.

Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen, minister of health in the Bonar Law cabinet, was defeated by his Liberal opponent in the Taunton division of Somerset.

CHURCHILL DEFEATED

(By the Associated Press)
London, Nov. 16.—Winston Churchill, former secretary for the colonies, was defeated for re-election for parliament from the Dundee division.

MRS. MacSWINEY IS RELEASED

Washington, Nov. 16.—Released from charges brought against herself and eight other women for picketing the British embassy here, Mrs. Muriel MacSwiney, widow of Terence MacSwiney, the late Lord Mayor of Cork, who died in prison on a hunger strike in 1920, was planning today to take a brief rest in Virginia before resuming her speaking tour on behalf of the Irish republican movement.

Pleading not guilty to charge of violating a federal statute designed to protect foreign representatives in this country from assault or violence, Mrs. MacSwiney and the others received a dismissal of their cases after a brief hearing yesterday before United States Commissioner George H. MacDonald, who held the proof did not "measure up to the intent of the law."

AT THE MOVIES

THE ELINGE.
Betty Compson's first love was the violin. She aspired to be a Maud Powell and might have been had she stuck to it. But after a season or two in vaudeville, the pictures lured her away from the stage and she has since become a star for Paramount.

But she never sees a violin without feeling the desire to play, as she confessed one day on the set of her new picture, "The Green Temptation," which comes to the Elinge theater Friday and Saturday.

She took to violin from the girl who plays for the actors and drew the bow tentatively across the strings. Then she handed it back. "I've lost the touch," she said, a bit sadly. "I could be by myself and probably extract something approximating melody from the instrument, but before people, I haven't the courage. But I still love it—often never ceases to you now."

Miss Compson believes "The Green Temptation" is the best picture she has ever had.

"I love the dances," she says. She does three—an Apache dance, a Columbian and an Amazon dance. In all three she was taught by Theodore Kosloff, who plays the heavy role in the picture.

The role she is called up to play is that of a girl who lives two distinct lives. It is full of action, color and dramatic possibilities.

AUDITORIUM BOOKS PLAYS

"The Emperor Jones" First of Several High Class Attractions

"The Emperor Jones," the remarkable drama of Eugene O'Neill, starring Charles Gilpin who was highly praised for his acting in New York, Boston, and Chicago, has been booked for the Auditorium for one night only, Tuesday, December 5, Manager Vesperman announced, today.

The play was originally produced by the Provincetown players in New York. Other attractions booked for the Auditorium include: "The Man Who Came Back," a William Brady comedy production, December 13; and for later dates as follows: Mitzl Hajos, the musical comedy star in "Lady Billy," in January, May Robson in "Mother's Million," in March and Walker Whiteside in "The Hindu," next June.

character. When the membership of the Bismarck Commercial Club is enrolled the entire list will be printed. This is the first ballot and each member received a copy of it through the mails. In the security of his own office or home, he scans this list, checks off the names of the men whom he thinks best fitted to be directors. Just as an example, pre-supposing that the new directorate will be composed of 12 men. He makes his choice of 12 names then seals his ballot and mails it or brings it to the Commercial club office. A detachable tab, used for recording purposes only, indicates the man who threw the ballot. The committee in charge, having checked up the person's right to vote, detaches the numbered tab and throws the ballot in the box. They cannot possibly see the names of the men he has voted for because it is inside a sealed envelope.

When all have voted, the 24 highest are declared the nominees for directors and this list of 24 names is again printed on another ballot and is again set out through the mails and the process repeated. Each member is asked to vote for 12 men and the 12 men who have received the highest number of votes are declared the directors.

To assure continuity of service and progress, it is many times as liable to have the six highest elected for a period of two years, and the remaining six retire at the end of the first year.

This is democracy reduced to its simplest form. Fitness, in the opinion of his fellow-citizens, will alone determine whether or not a member shall hold office. Ability and willingness to serve will alone keep a man in office after he has been elected to it, for it is apparent that any director who fails to measure up to the expectations of his fellow-members, will not be re-elected. How the committee will be chosen was explained in the answer to the question of what the Bismarck Commercial Club can do. Under the modern plan, the Members Forum will be an important feature of the new organization.

The Forum will be the medium of communication between the officers and the directors and the members. It will frequently hold luncheons and meetings, bringing together the membership to invite the presentation and discussion of new projects. It will check up on the progress of the work of the committees. It will have speakers on important subjects to assist the community to the solution of its problems. It will be a dynamo which will give motion and action to the Commercial club as an organization.

The Member's Forum organization is so planned that it reaches by distinct groups the individual members and is thoroughly alive to the thought and pulse of the membership as a whole. It is an organization within an organization and is responsible for the efficiency of the organization and its financial standing. It is needless to say that the Forum is made up of all the most progressive and ready workers in the whole organization.

Confidence and Optimism.

The whole purpose of the Commercial club, first and last, is to bring together the most responsible men and women in the city and keep them at work for the good of the city.

Through frequent social meetings, the acquaintance of each individual member is broadened, friendships are established and there grows up a splendid confidence and optimism which are the two intangible but compelling forces which carry a community forward.

Tomorrow—"How is the Commercial Club going to be financed?"

UPHOLD CONVICTION.
Springfield, Ill., Nov. 16.—A mandate of the supreme court, advising the criminal court of Cook county that its conviction of Wm. Gross

Lloyd has been upheld, was put in the mail this morning by supreme court clerk, Charles W. Vail. Upon receipt of the mandate, the criminal court may order the immediate incarceration of Lloyd and those members of the communist labor party who were convicted with him, Mr. Vail said.

Jacob Olin, Typhoid Victim Passes Away
Funeral services for Jacob C. Olin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Olin of Sims, will be held at Sims today probably although not definite announcement has been made.

Mr. Olin who was 34 years of age passed away at a Bismarck hospital after a brief illness of typhoid pneumonia. The deceased was the second son of John Olin. Besides his parents he leaves four sisters, Miss Anna and Lucille Olin and two brothers, Immanuel Olin in California, and Otto Olin of Sims to mourn his death.

This is democracy reduced to its simplest form. Fitness, in the opinion of his fellow-citizens, will alone determine whether or not a member shall hold office. Ability and willingness to serve will alone keep a man in office after he has been elected to it, for it is apparent that any director who fails to measure up to the expectations of his fellow-members, will not be re-elected. How the committee will be chosen was explained in the answer to the question of what the Bismarck Commercial Club can do. Under the modern plan, the Members Forum will be an important feature of the new organization.

The Forum will be the medium of communication between the officers and the directors and the members. It will frequently hold luncheons and meetings, bringing together the membership to invite the presentation and discussion of new projects. It will check up on the progress of the work of the committees. It will have speakers on important subjects to assist the community to the solution of its problems. It will be a dynamo which will give motion and action to the Commercial club as an organization.

The Member's Forum organization is so planned that it reaches by distinct groups the individual members and is thoroughly alive to the thought and pulse of the membership as a whole. It is an organization within an organization and is responsible for the efficiency of the organization and its financial standing. It is needless to say that the Forum is made up of all the most progressive and ready workers in the whole organization.

Confidence and Optimism.

The whole purpose of the Commercial club, first and last, is to bring together the most responsible men and women in the city and keep them at work for the good of the city.

Through frequent social meetings, the acquaintance of each individual member is broadened, friendships are established and there grows up a splendid confidence and optimism which are the two intangible but compelling forces which carry a community forward.

Tomorrow—"How is the Commercial Club going to be financed?"

UPHOLD CONVICTION.
Springfield, Ill., Nov. 16.—A mandate of the supreme court, advising the criminal court of Cook county that its conviction of Wm. Gross

Lloyd has been upheld, was put in the mail this morning by supreme court clerk, Charles W. Vail. Upon receipt of the mandate, the criminal court may order the immediate incarceration of Lloyd and those members of the communist labor party who were convicted with him, Mr. Vail said.

Jacob Olin, Typhoid Victim Passes Away
Funeral services for Jacob C. Olin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Olin of Sims, will be held at Sims today probably although not definite announcement has been made.

Mr. Olin who was 34 years of age passed away at a Bismarck hospital after a brief illness of typhoid pneumonia. The deceased was the second son of John Olin. Besides his parents he leaves four sisters, Miss Anna and Lucille Olin and two brothers, Immanuel Olin in California, and Otto Olin of Sims to mourn his death.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of the Bismarck Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

OUR BACKWARD STEP

The utility of voting for Frazier in June in order to elect O'Connor in the fall has been demonstrated. It is to be hoped, to the element that took the chance rather than vote for McComber. Mr. O'Connor himself, though a brilliant and eloquent speaker, a staunch opponent of socialism could not stem the tide that turned to Frazier with his name under the Republican caption.

The splendid position which North Dakota had achieved in Washington through the long period of service of Senator McComber has been sacrificed and the state takes rank at the bottom of the list, with the assurance that our junior senator becomes a mere mouthpiece for Senator La Follette. And the Republican national committee that seemed to be so solicitous over Frazier's election, will have an opportunity to measure up the man as we in North Dakota have measured him during the past six years, and we trust before many months roll round they will appreciate why so many thousands of Republicans in this state preferred to support a Democrat for the senate.—Mandan Pioneer.

CALLS IT POLITICAL "FLU"

The flu is a disease that spread all over the country and we guess from the election returns that the nonpartisan league program is on that order. It seems to be a disease that is spreading throughout the country. North Dakota has had it for some time but is gradually getting better, but in our neighboring state of Minnesota it seems to be coming strong. That state has been sympathizing with us very much and has been doing its best to help us get rid of the disease but in so doing it seems to have contracted the disease itself. The election of Shipstead to the United States Senate and the election of a couple of league congressmen in Minnesota to succeed men like Senator Kellogg, Representative Volstead and Representative Steenerson, in our judgment is a backward step, but this nonpartisan disease prescribed by A. C. Townley, is no respecter of persons. Well, all we can say about it is that we extend our heartfelt sympathy to our neighboring states. The senate of the United States has lost a valuable man in Kellogg, and a man who has been a friend to the farmer and aided them in legislation every time he could.—Valley City Times-Record.

THE VOICE OF PROTEST

It was the voice of protest that was heard last Tuesday all over the country—protest and nothing else. The voter was inspired by any candidacy, particularly for any personality or for any set of policies. The ballot he cast was the vehicle for his protest against things as they are, his notice to those sent into office of his hope and expectation that things would be changed somehow for the better.

The people last Tuesday were not looking for somebody to vote for; they sought for somebody to vote against. When they found someone who seemed eligible to act as the sacrificial goat, they slew him on the altar to propitiate the gods.

In Minnesota, they offered up the faithful and industrious Kellogg; in Ohio they fell upon that high minded Democrat, Atlee Pomerene; in Nebraska, they ordered the urban Hitchcock to the block; in New York they turned Miller, the best Governor the State has had in years, a man who had brought economy and order into the business affairs of the Commonwealth; in New Jersey they rejected Frelinghuysen because he was dry; in Indiana they condemned the able and fearless Beveridge, because he was reckless enough to talk sound sense to them; in North Dakota they took up the very Frazier they had recalled from the Governor's chair, to send him to the Senate.

And so it went all over the country. There was neither rhyme or reason to it on any theory of party or policy sustained. It was protest.

Protest against what? Against the Republican Party and its failure to take the most of the wonderful opportunity presented to it two years ago. Against the low prices of farm products, which no man or party or policy could have prevented, and which no man or party or policy can cure, except as economic law operates. Against the severe restrictions of the prohibition laws which the Country in the Spartan spirit of war sacrifice had ordered.

The great political overturn was in no sense an expression of confidence in the Democratic leaders and politics, which had but two short years ago been so crushingly repudiated. The Democrats offered no great policies, no program of contented readjustment. They contented themselves with the negative work of pointing out how and where the Republicans had failed.

That failure can be neither denied nor condoned. Its root lay in lack of leadership in Congress. There appear to be no great leaders on either side of the present Congress, nor of the new one just elected, for that matter.

The direct primary, the direct election of Senators and the consequent decline of party spirit account in part for the dearth of real leaders. In a system where it is every man for himself, strong leader cannot impose discipline any more, and where that fails, there can be no real leadership. Congress has degenerated into a complex of blocs and factions.

Well, the people have made their great protest. They have overturned the machine they set up two years ago. But there is nothing to take its place, nothing that promises decisive, constructive action.

For the coming biennium we must merely mark time, while the politicians and the agitators prepare for the great contest over the Presidency in 1924. The political outlook is far from rosy. But while the deadlock holds, perhaps economic revival and business resuscitation can go on, unimpeded by the dangers of new legislation.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Coming Events Cast Their Shadows Before

Triumphs of M. Jonquelle

by MELVILLE DAVISSON POST
© 1922 NEA Service, Inc.

THE MAN WITH STEEL FINGERS

The great drawing-room through which Monsieur Jonquelle advanced was empty.

But it was not silent. A vague music, like some weird conception of Tchaikowsky, seemed to feel about the room, extending itself as though it would escape from something that followed it tirelessly and invisibly.

It required the fingers of a master, on the board of a keyed instrument, to produce these sounds. They came from the room beyond a second drawing-room looking out on the Bois de Boulogne.

Monsieur Jonquelle had not allowed the servant to announce him. "One is not permitted to disturb Lord Valleys at this hour," the servant had said.

Monsieur Jonquelle's card had added to the man's perplexity. One was also not permitted to deny an entrance, anywhere, at any hour, to the Prefect of Police of Paris. The man had made a hopeless gesture, like one resigning himself to the inevitable.

Monsieur Jonquelle, after the door had closed behind him, remained for some moments quite motionless in the eddy, as one might write it, of this strange, weird music, in which there was always a note of ruthless vigor—a note of barbaric vigor, harsh and determined.

Monsieur Jonquelle could not place the music in any remembered composition. It was not the work of any master that he knew. It was an improvisation of the fingers that produced it.

Presently he advanced into the room from which the music issued. He paused a moment in the doorway, watching the figure with white nimble fingers hard as steel. Then he spoke.

"Your pardon, monsieur," said the Prefect of Police. "I am desolated to disturb you."

The man at the piano sprang up and turned swiftly as though his body accomplished the act with a single motion.

To the eye, the man was strange. His shoulders were very broad and stooped; his face was wide, massive—the face of a Slav. His hair was thick, close and heavy, but it was not long, and affected no mannerisms.

The man was very carefully dressed, after the English fashion, and with its well-bred restraint, but the impression he gave one was decidedly not English. It was that of a Slav adapted to an English aspect.

The eyes one did not see. One rarely saw them. They seemed to be hidden by heavy lids like curtained windows. And there was no expression in the face. The face was a mask. It seemed always in repose. The big nose, the square, brutal jaw, and the wide planes of the face, were white as with a sort of pallor. Monsieur Jonquelle had a sudden, swift impression. The man before him was either the greatest criminal or the greatest genius that he had ever seen.

Jonquelle had also a further impression of failure. He had meant to startle this man, and observe what followed. And he had startled him; but untrue to every experience, there was nothing to observe. The man's face remained without an expression; he was behind it hidden from every eye. It was a mask that could not be changed by the will of another. Monsieur Jonquelle wondered in what manner it would change at the will of the man that it so admirably obeyed. It was a thing he was not interested to discover.

It was only for an instant that

He had taken a small chair, and he sat in it as a man of great strength and vigor and of an unusual bulk rests his weight upon something which he is uncertain will support it.

He did not move, but the expression in his face changed slightly. His eyebrows lifted as in a courteous inquiry. Monsieur Jonquelle went on. He seemed not entirely at ease.

"I shall not pretend at ignorance of your affairs, monsieur. The law courts of England are brutal and direct. They have no consideration for anyone, and the press of those islands has a less restraint."

"When one is charged with a crime in England, and comes into its courts, no humiliation is neglected. That one is innocent means nothing; that this innocence is presently demonstrated does not preserve one, in the events preceding such a verdict, from every imaginable humiliation."

Monsieur Jonquelle continued to hesitate. But he went on.

"Monsieur," he said, "out of this unfortunate experience you will have come, I feel, with a certain opinion upon the problem which disturbs me. And I am sure, monsieur, you will not deny me the benefit of that opinion."

The Prefect of Police looked up like one who with hesitation requests a favor from another.

Lord Valleys replied immediately.

"I shall be very glad to give you my opinion upon any point in the matter," he said. "Surely I have been spared little. I have had every experience of humiliation. The criminal law of England is a bungling and cruel device. Those who find themselves concerned with it, I profoundly pity."

"There is no consideration of family or culture that in any way mitigates its severity or in any direction preserves one from odium, once the machinery of a criminal court of England is on its way. The experience of it is a horror to me, monsieur; but if it can result in any benefit to you or to another, I am willing to recall it. What is the problem, monsieur, upon which you would have my opinion?"

"It is this, monsieur," replied the Prefect of Police. "Is it your conclusion, upon this experience of life, that there is a Providence of God that undertakes to adjust the affairs of mankind—to assist the helpless and to acquit the innocent—or do you believe that it is the intelligence of man that accomplishes this result? . . . What is it, monsieur, that moves behind the machinery of the world—chance, luck, fortune or some sort of Providence?"

Lord Valleys seemed to reflect while the Prefect of Police was speaking, and he now replied with little hesitation.

"Chance, monsieur," he said, "is unquestionably the greatest and most mysterious factor in all human affairs, but it is modified and diverted by the human will. . . . Human intelligence, monsieur, and chance are the two factors."

The Prefect of Police continued to look down at his hands.

"I have been of a different opinion, Lord Valleys," he said. "I think there is an intention behind events, a sort of will to justice, to righteousness, as one has said, it is not chance as we usually define the word, and the human will cannot circumvent it. . . . It is strange, as I see it, Lord Valleys."

"This thing we call human intelligence seems to be able to aid, to assist, to advance, the vague, immense, persistent impulse behind events, and to delay and to disturb it, but not ultimately to defeat it."

"Take the extraordinary events that have happened to you, Lord Valleys, and tell me, if you can, how they could have arrived by chance?"

"Your uncle, Lord Winton, took the title and the whole properties of your family by the accident of birth. Your father, the second son, having no title and no fortune, entered the diplomatic service and was allotted to one of the little courts of southeastern Europe. He married your mother there, and you were born and grew up in the atmosphere of Serbia."

"There was little chance that you would ever have fortune or title. Lord Winton had two sons; one of them married an American; the other remained unmarried. There were three lives between you and this title and its immense estates in England. . . . What chance was there, monsieur, that these persons should descend and these benefits descend to you?"

He paused.

"But they were removed, monsieur, and the benefits have descended. The war appeared. Both sons of Lord Winton lost their lives in it; Lord Winton is himself murdered; and you come, monsieur, from a paupered kingdom of southeastern Europe to be a peer of England with an immense estate. Even the American granddaughter of Lord Winton takes nothing under this extraordinary English law of entail. Would you call this chance, monsieur?"

Lord Valleys found no difficulty at all with the inquiry. He replied directly.

"Monsieur," he said, "it was all clearly chance except the murder of Lord Winton. That was, of course, design."

Another instalment in this thrilling detective story will appear in our next issue.

A THOUGHT

Let not him that girdeth on his harness boast himself as he that putteth it off.—1 Kings 20-11.

We want straight men in this age of light;

We want their counsel and sense of right;

Their valor and virtue and loyal sense

Of serving for only the recompense

Of seeing a duty that's done well done.

We want straight men in the race to run!

—Folger McKenzie.

CONTRASTING MATERIAL.

Combination frocks are the mode this season, except in the very tailored frock; the bodice is usually of a different material from the skirt, or the coat contrasts with the dress. The contrast is more frequently of material than of color.

The word "doctor" originally was used to signify any sort of a teacher.

RUTHLESS

Interesting new book is Sir J. Rennell Rodd's "Social and Diplomatic Memories, 1884-98." He quotes Bismarck as saying:

"I want your countrymen to know that it was I, and only I, who alone made this German Empire. And how do you think I accomplished this? How did I succeed in crushing every man who stood in my way? All this I achieved through cunning. I set one man against another, and again and again I broke them."

That was Bismarck's "cunning." In Germany, today, you see what it all led to. In America we are making similar mistakes, playing man against man.

DETECTIVES

Daring cracksmen burglarize London headquarters of Scotland Yard, world's most famous organization of detectives.

The burglars cart away many fur coats, fancy umbrellas and pieces of jewelry from the Lost Property Office, where missing articles are held for identification by owners. A London newspaper with a nasty sense of humor hints that the "Yard" may take out insurance policies to protect personal property of the detectives.

This should get a chuckle out of American police, chafing under criticism.

BILL

Sir J. Rennell Rodd, in his memoirs, gives this picture of ex-Kaiser Bill as a youth. "He displayed a somewhat boisterous geniality. It might gratify a certain mentality to be smitten from behind with a tennis racquet by a future emperor. But, on the other hand, such gratification was qualified by the fact that the blow could not be returned."

That was one of the chief things wrong with Bill, all through his career—"the blow could not be returned." The return blows, however, gradually piled up into a knockout.

"OVER THERE"

The London Daily Mail says editorially: "Our information is that while Germany is doing her utmost to avoid a just payment of reparations, she is stealthily preparing for a renewal of hostilities. There is in existence in Germany an elaborate process of secret enlistment, together with far larger stores of munitions, than Berlin will admit or than Downing Street suspects."

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton-Roberts

Nancy and Nick looked and looked everywhere. They not only asked all the Mother Goose people up in the sky but all their fairy friends as well.

It was Mr. Sprinkle-Blow, the weatherman, who said something which made the Twins stop hunting and sent them hurrying to the little chocolate drop of a house on a high mountain where Mother Goose lived.

"I wouldn't wear out my Magic Shoes if I were you," advised Mr. Sprinkle-Blow. "Mother Goose doesn't need her old broom any more. This morning when I looked down I saw a broom leaning up against her doorway. She must have gotten a new one."

"Hello, kiddies!" called Mother Goose when she saw Nancy and Nick coming. "Tired hunting?"

"Oh, no," answered Nick. "Only we heard you had a new broom."

"Highly tidy!" she exclaimed. "New broom, indeed! Who said so?"

Nick told her what Sprinkle-Blow had said.

"Well, I declare! I'll have to look!" cried the good fairy lady in astonishment. "I didn't know a thing about it."

So they all rushed out.

There was a broom, just as the weatherman said! But not a new one! It was the same old broom Mother Goose always used.

"It's been there all the time, I do believe," cried Mother Goose. "Yes, I remember now. I was cleaning up after the wood-chopper, and forgot to put it behind my door where I always keep it. Will you tell the Fairy Queen, my dears?"

The Twins hurried off to spread the good news.

RECOVERS FROM RHEUMATISM

"Had rheumatism five months that would go from my left knee to my back. Tried many remedies without relief. Finally used Foley Kidney Pills and in fifteen days was entirely cured," writes W. J. Oliver, Vidalia, Georgia. Backache, rheumatic pains, dull headache, dizziness and blurred vision are symptoms of kidney disorder. Foley Kidney Pills quickly relieve kidney and bladder trouble.

Two Months Could Not Turn in Bed.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Finally Restored Health

Seattle, Washington.—"I had dragging pains first and could not stand on my feet, then I had chills and fever and such pains in my right side and a hard lump there. I could not turn myself in bed and could not sleep. I was this way for over two months, trying everything anyone told me, until a doctor brought me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it regularly until all the hard pains had left me and I was able to lie up and to do my work again. The hard lump left my side and I feel splendid in all ways. I know of many women it has helped."—Mrs. G. RICHARDSON, 2832 Orcus St., Seattle, Washington.

This is another case where Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought relief after trying everything any one told me had failed.

If you are suffering from pain, nervousness and are always tired; if you are losing weight and need a purgative, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. You may not only relieve the present distress, but prevent the development of more serious trouble.

SPORTS
TEAMS GO OUT OF CONFERENCE
IN GRID GAMES

Creighton-South Dakota Game
Looks as Decisive for North Central Conference

Football teams of the North Central Intercollegiate conference are meeting teams from non-conference institutions this week end with the exception of the Morningside-South Dakota State game to be played at Sioux City. This game will determine whether Morningside can establish a record of ties three weeks running in conference games. The rather unusual record of the Sioux City team to date is a tie game with Des Moines University two weeks ago, with a seven-point score and a tie with Nebraska Wesleyan last Saturday with twenty-two points on each side of the ledger. The latter game is unusual as a team that is able to make three touchdowns is usually also able to have a defense that will keep the other team from scoring.

Creighton University, playing an away game last Saturday, goes out again for its opponent, this time entertaining the Michigan Aggie team at Omaha. The North Dakota Aggies will make their single excursion eastward, meeting the Superior Normal school team at Superior while St. Thomas will engage in a Minnesota contest meeting the Macalester team at St. Paul.

If the teams of the Conference comes through this week's games without serious disaster they will have made a record in their extra conference games which entitles them to a good deal of satisfaction. Wisconsin, Minnesota and Marquette have scored double touchdown victories or better over N. C. I. teams. Detroit University barely whipped Des Moines while Marquette had a hard time taking the measure of North Dakota University after it had defeated Creighton decisively. Nebraska has the distinction of being the team to score unrepentedly, when it defeated South Dakota by a 66 to 0 score.

With the University of North Dakota closing its season with one conference defeat, that by St. Thomas, The Creighton-South Dakota State game looms as a very decisive one in the play of the year. A victory for Creighton will enable it to end the season undefeated in conference games. A victory for South Dakota State over Morningside this week and Creighton will place six teams in a group where they have lost but one game, but Morningside and Des Moines will have suffered conference ties.

YANKEES WILL DROP MAYS IS LATEST RUMOR

By NEA Service.
New York, Nov. 16.—Since the defeat of the Yankees by the Giants, rumors galore have been spread relative to changes that would be made in the club before the opening of next season. Some of these changes will no doubt materialize, others will prove to be mere piffle.

However, of all the rumors circulated, one thing seems certain, Carl Mays will not be with the Yankees next year. Ever since joining the club, Mays has kept the team in a constant turmoil.

The purchase of Mays by the Yankees from Boston after President Johnson had suspended the pitcher caused a wide split in the American League that has not yet been healed.

The New York club in order to be able to play Mays went to the courts and had a permanent injunction restraining President Johnson from interfering with him in any way.

Boston and Chicago sided with New York in the fight on Johnson, demanding that he be ousted. The other five clubs remained loyal. For a time it appeared as if the split might cause the formation of a third league.

Then came the unfortunate killing of Ray Chapman by a wildly pitched ball by Mays. At one time it looked as if the seven other clubs would go on strike unless Mays was removed from baseball.

Ruth and Mays have been at odds ever since they became members of the club, and as a result discipline has suffered.

It is hinted that waivers have been asked on Mays and that all the American League clubs have passed him up. However, it is said that several National League clubs are willing to take him on. All of which makes it look as if Mays might drift out of the American League before the opening of next season.

WALKER HAS MANY RIVALS FOR TITLE
New Welterweight Champion Sits on Rather Unsteady Throne

MICKEY WALKER IN CIVILIAN AND FIGHTING TOGS.

By Billy Evans.
How long will Mickey Walker hold the welterweight title? Some of the boxing experts are inclined to the belief that Mickey's tenure will be a short one. There are a half dozen welterweights entitled to a match with Walker and every one of them is a dangerous contender.

George Ward and Jack Malone, who hold decisions over Walker, are more than anxious for a shot at the new champion. Johnny Karr, who has a verdict over Malone, is equally anxious. Then there is Dave Shade, the brilliant Californian.

Will Uplift the Stage.
Jack Bulger, Mickey's manager, has temporarily called a halt to the many challenges by announcing to the world that Walker would shortly go on the stage. It is said bookings covering a period of three months have already been closed.

Walker, it is understood, isn't very keen for the stage stuff, but his manager opines otherwise and, of course, that settles it.

Walker is the twelfth fighter to hold the welter title. Walker, by the way, is the youngest man that ever won the title in this country. Jack Britton was the oldest boxer to win and defend the honors of the division.

Britton Beat Kid Lewis.
Britton won the championship from "Kid" Lewis at New Orleans April 24, 1916. Jack held the title a little more than a year, Lewis winning it back when he received the decision over Britton at Dayton, O., June 25, 1917.

Lewis held the honors for two years. During that time he met Britton in a number of no-decision bouts, the critics usually disagreeing as to the winner.

Britton then sprang a puzzling surprise by knocking out Lewis in nine rounds at Canton, O., March 17, 1919. Britton has held the title since, finally surrendering it to Mickey Walker on points.

Walker Is Only Twenty.
Walker is 20 years old. He has been fighting only three years. His victory over Britton came as a great surprise because only a few months ago Jack had won all the way from clever Benny Leonard, until the lightweight champ committed a foul, terminating the bout.

The new champion lives in Elizabeth, N. J., and is proud of it. The home folks are equally proud of Mickey. He lives with his parents and is unmarried.

Walker's ambition after leaving school was to become an architect. He served as an apprentice in an architect's office for some time, but daily passed it all up for a ring career. His specialty now is designing new punches instead of buildings.

Fielding Yost,
May Retire As Active Head Coach

By NEA Service.
Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 16.—Is Fielding Yost to retire as head football coach at the close of the present season? Gossip around the campus is in the affirmative.

Yost, who is now director of all athletics at Michigan, has been in charge of football activities as head coach for 22 years.

It is hinted that if all goes well at Michigan this year, and at the present time things are flourishing, Yost will turn the football worries over to his assistant, George Little. Of course, Yost will continue to act in an advisory capacity as director of athletics.

Yost has an enviable record as football coach at Michigan. He certainly put the Maize and Blue on the map from a sporting standpoint. Yost came to Michigan in 1901. He probably won his greatest fame in his first four years at Michigan. His teams from 1901 to 1905 were practically invincible. These were the days of the "point-a-minute" eleven.

Michigan in the first four years of Yost regime won 55 out of 57 games, tying one and losing the other. Minnesota in 1903 played the Wolverines to a 6 to 6 tie, while Chicago in 1905 beat Michigan, 2 to 0, because of a "bone" play on the part of Benny Clarke, which permitted Chicago to score a safety.

During his first five years at Michigan Yost's teams scored 2,790 points to the opposition's 42, a most remarkable record, that probably will never be equaled in collegiate circles.

Thus it is easy to see that Yost has had more than his share of glory and he is willing, yes anxious, to step down when he finds someone he believes will fill the bill. Looks very much as if he had that man in George Little, his present assistant.

SISLER GRABS TWO RECORDS
HELD BY COBB

George Sisler of the St. Louis Browns, who bids fair to usurp Ty Cobb's crown as baseball's greatest all-around athlete, erased another record last summer that the Georgian has held for years, the consecutive hitting record.

Last summer Sisler made one or more hits in 41 consecutive games, thereby just breaking Cobb's record of 40 straight games in which he had hit safely. Cobb's record was made in 1911. It stood 11 years.

In 1921 Sisler erased another Cobb record that had stood since 1911. In that year Cobb made 245 base hits during the season, the greatest total ever amassed by any American leaguer. A year ago Sisler came through with 27 safe wallops, nine more than credited to Cobb.

Sisler began his consecutive hitting streak on July 27 against New York with Bob Shawkey pitching. He broke Cobb's record on Sept. 16 against New York with Bob Shawkey again doing the pitching.

Joe Bush, pitching for New York, the following day stopped Sisler's batting streak, the star of the Browns being unable to get the ball out of the infield in four trips to the plate. Ed Walsh was the pitcher who stopped Cobb.

Cobb in making his record of 40 straight games batted .464, while Sisler hit .41. Sisler made two more runs and two more hits than Cobb, but was charged with nine more times at bat.

A perusal of the two records shows that Cobb made one hit in 15 games, Sisler in 17. Cobb has 16 games with two hits and Sisler 12. Cobb has seven games with three hits and the president was a man who could do wonders with an institution and as he had given his life over to Centenary it was bound to be a success.

In President Sexton I found a man whose ideas were similar to my own in regard to the training of young men. We hope to put Centenary College on the football map if it can be done by good clean athletics. However, the main thought in the development of the young manhood of the college and to turn out men who will be a credit to both the college and the nation.

Football Builds Character
Football and other branches of athletics mean much to a young man. Strong character is built on the football field if under the proper training.

The man who works hard in trying to win a place on the team and does it in a clean, sportsmanlike manner will nearly always be found to be 100 per cent perfect in the business world.

And the man who goes into it with the "anything-to-win" spirit will usually be found among the "down-and-outers" in a short time. It is my ambition to have a winning football team at Centenary College, but it will be done in a clean, gentlemanly manner. We are going to live up to our name as Centenary gentlemen at all costs.

JESS WILLARD
BELOW PAR IN EXHIBITIONS

(By the Associated Press)
Los Angeles, Calif., Nov. 16.—Jess Willard, former heavyweight boxing champion, was the object of much comment in sporting circles here today following his two exhibitions here last night, his first public ring appearance since the day three years ago when Jack Dempsey wrested his title from him. In the opinion of sport writers, the big Kansan failed to show champion form.

The former champion boxed two exhibition bouts of two rounds each with Tom Kennedy and Joe Bondo, Los Angeles heavyweights, as the feature of a boxing program given at the Hollywood American Legion station as a benefit for ex-service men.

W. G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, and Mrs. McAdoo, daughter of former President Wilson, were among a large number of socially prominent persons who attended. They were given an ovation.

Willard received a rousing reception. His two opponents, although large men, looked small beside him. Kennedy made the better showing, swinging four or five hard rights to the jaw, but Willard merely smiled and retaliated mildly.

Willard was quick on his feet and his rapid sparring, as one writer expressed it, "gave" one the idea he was not far from being in fair fighting trim."

FILIPINO WILL MEET GOLDSTEIN

New York, Nov. 16.—Pancho Villa, Filipino holder of the American flyweight championship, will box Abo Goldstein, of New York, tonight in a 10-round contest at Madison Square Garden.

Villa's title was not expected to be at stake as articles of agreement call for the pugilists to make 116 pounds each, after which the flyweight limit is 112 pounds. Villa was expected to weigh about 100 and his opponent 115 or 120.

The Test of Good Will

Most manufacturers appreciate the importance of good will on the part of the dealer, and count it one of their greatest assets. But many of them need to consider more thoroughly in what good will consists.

The final test of good will is the salability of the product—the consumer demand.

The dealer may be willing to concede the high standing and prestige of the manufacturer. He acknowledges freely that it is one of the foremost concerns in the business, that it is backed by men who have a solid reputation in their industry, and that its relations with the dealer are businesslike and pleasant. He is disposed to estimate all these things at full value.

But all this good will cannot materially help the dealer sell your goods unless the public is disposed to buy them.

The kind of good will that counts most with the dealer is the good will of the public towards your goods.

If the consumer is demanding your product, and the dealer is able to supply it at a profit, he will have ample good will for the house that makes this possible.

There is just one way to build up this consumer good will, and that is by making the product right and telling the consumer about its merits through Advertising.

With the consumer demanding your product, and the dealer disposed to give it every preference, its steady sale is certain. Good will becomes a big reality in business when that good will extends to the consumer. More and better advertising will create the kind of good will that every manufacturer needs most.

News of the Markets

WHEAT PRICES FIRM UNDER ACTIVE BUYING

(By the Associated Press)
Chicago, Nov. 16.—Increased commission-house buying of wheat character which appeared to indicate broadening of general speculative interest gave a decided life to wheat prices today during the early dealings. Houses with eastern connections led in the purchasing of December and May deliveries. Unresponsiveness at Liverpool to upturns in America received some attention here at the opening but was practically ignored later. Initial quotations here which showed $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ to $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ decline, with December $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ to $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ and May $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ to $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢, were followed by a sharp upturn all around.

In the last half of the day, bulls were at a disadvantage but offerings were readily absorbed and declines failed to extend very far.

General selling of wheat took place today after all deliveries of wheat except December wheat had reached a new high price record for this season. The selling was based on an opinion which became prevalent that after three days' advance some setback was to be expected. The close was unsettled at $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ net decline, to $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ gain with December $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ to $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ and May $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ to $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢.

Subsequently, profit taking led to something of a reaction. The close was steady at the same as yesterday's finish to $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ higher with December $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ to $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ and May $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ to $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢.

Corn and oats showed decided independent strength, emphasized by reports that rural holders were awaiting higher prices. After opening $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ to $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ off, December $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ to $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢, the corn market scored material gains.

Oats started at $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ off to a like advance, December $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ and later climbed with corn and wheat.

Provisions reflected the strength of grain, despite weakness of hog values.

NEWS OF WALL STREET

(By the Associated Press)
New York, Nov. 16.—Encouraged by the declaration of numerous dividend increases and further large stock dividends, the bulls resumed their attack against the short interest at the outset of today's stock market and soon effected advances of 1 to 3 points throughout the day. Some of yesterday's weak issues, especially New Haven, Consolidated Gas, and Texas Gulf Sulphur, were conspicuously strong. Strength again appeared in the higher priced stocks, especially Standard Oil of New Jersey, Dupont and National Biscuit, the latter again reaching a new top figure.

The steels, oils, equipments, food, tobacco, textile, public utilities, can, leather, and low priced rails were bid for at rapid rising prices.

Buying of stocks on knowledge that future railroad and industrial earnings were promising went on at a good pace throughout the morning. Apart from an exceptional display of weakness in the shipping group, which carried Marine preferred down 3 points, to a new low level for the year, prices pursued a steady upward course. Spectacular advances were recorded by a number of industrial shares, Dupont climbing 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ and Woolworth 8 points. Railroad stocks also made a particularly good showing. Call money opened at 5 percent.

The closing was weak. Encouraged by their success in breaking the shipping and General Asphalt, the bears extended the scope of their operations to the final hour and succeeded in bringing about a material decline. Middle States Steel was hammered down eight points.

Emphatic gains were made by a number of stocks in today's early trading, bullish activity being en-

CASH WHEAT UNSETTLED (By the Associated Press)

Minneapolis, Nov. 16.—The cash wheat market continued unsettled and on the average there was little change in premiums. Some scattered sales were higher compared with December and some lower. For the choice quality of wheat there seemed to be a good general demand and offerings of that kind were light. Choice durum wheat was a little easier and scarce, while the speculators were paying more for the best of the medium and lower grades. Winter wheat demand had more edge and premiums were firmer.

The additions start December 15 and continue through Christmas.

BIG CLOSING OUT SALE

We are going to change our store over to an exclusive shoe business and are closing out our entire stock of Men's Furnishings including Underwear, Shirts, Neckties, Socks, Overcoats, etc. We are also offering a line of Men's, Ladies' and Children's Shoes at unheard of prices, quality of goods considered.

We are putting these articles on sale at prices below the wholesale cost in order to close out our stock as soon as possible.

We guarantee to give you a price that will be lower than the mail order houses, and quality of goods that cannot be equaled for the price. Our goods are all standard brands and of the finest quality. We invite your inspection.

Now is your opportunity to buy your winter's supply. Make a big saving at one purchase. Following are only a few of the bargains offered.

GET OUR NEW LOW STORAGE RATES

If you are not going to use your car this winter your battery should be placed in the hands of experts for winter storage. We will gladly examine your battery and advise you as to whether it should be stored "wet" or "dry" and explain each method.

If you are going to use your car during the winter (and why not) — we will gladly examine and test your battery every week, without charge. This weekly inspection will avoid any chance of freezing and ruining your battery.

Remember—we operate a modern battery shop and our new rates are very low.

SPECIAL-SIX TOURING $1275

Studebaker

At its new low price of $1275 the Studebaker Special-Six Touring Car maintains Studebaker ideals of quality and performance, with added features that make it even a greater value than before.

It is known for its striking beauty just as it is for its thorough dependability. Luxurious comfort is assured by the nine-inch seat cushions of genuine leather and the long semi-elliptic springs, front and rear.

Power, flexibility and ease of handling are combined to make the Special-Six the most highly regarded five-passenger car on the market.

By manufacturing complete motors, transmissions, bodies, tops, castings, forgings and stampings, middlemen's profits on such items are eliminated and one profit only is included in Studebaker prices. Highest standards of workmanship are maintained and materials are the finest the market affords.

In the Special-Six Touring Car you will find such value and satisfaction as only Studebaker can offer.

The name Studebaker is your assurance of satisfaction.
